THE Patent Office did well in steadfastly refusing to renew the patents under which a giant monopoly had been maintaining exorbitant prices for sewing machines. The inventors were amply rewarded long before their letters patent expired, and a renewal on the first of this month would have been nothing less than an extension of immunity to monopolists, and now that sewing machine patents have expired any one can manufacture them who chooses to, and it is presumed the price of machines will be considerably reduced.

IT is confidently asserted that "the President" will, in his message to Congress at the coming extra session, recommend as a part of his Southern policy the Texas Pacific rail road. Nothing that he could do would be more popular with the Southern members, as well as the Southern people, than such a recommendation. But our word for it, that just as soon as such a recommendation is made, or any bill introduced that would be of benefit to the Southern people, such papers as the New York Sun and World—papers, too, tha profess to have such unbounded love for the Southern people, and are largely supported by them—will bitterly denounce the measure as "jobs," "trickery," etc.

—There are now several vessels in the bay loading for foreign ports.

—Base-ball fever is prevailing to —A want long felt has been supplied in the coffee-house and restaurant just opened at this place in the old postoffice building by Miss Maggie Ferrer. Our old-time friend, Mr. Francisco Ferrer, is in charge of the establishment, and will deal out the refreshments in a princely style. He will also keep constantly on hand a choice supply of fruits, candies, cigars, etc., and meals will be furnished at all hours, day or night.

—We take pleasure in directing the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of Rice, Born & Co., of New Orleans, which appears in another column. This is one of the leading firms of the Crescent City, and needs no commendation at our hands. If you need anything in their line this is the firm to trade with. A more reliable set of gentlemen cannot be found than those composing the firm of Rice, Born & Co.

Personal.

Capt. Hawthorn took charge of the railroad office here last Wednesday to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of H. E. Anderson.

We had the pleasure, last Saturday, of a pleasant call from our friend and worthy confrere, Mr. C. M. Liddle, of the Handsboro Advertiser. He informed us he received the names of several subscribers while in our county, and reports that the Advertiser is on rising ground, all of which we are glad to learn.

It is with regret that we chronicle the departure of our friend Mr. Hop. E. Anderson, who has long been a resident our town, and who has lately been attending to the agency of the railroad at this that Mike and "Scotty" were both in liquor, and that they had a falling out—as is usual upon occasions when men take too much red-eye—which resulted in a personal collision, in which "Scotty" got the worst of it. However, they made friends with each other, and all parties left together in the boat, friendly feelings prevailing.

From one of the party we get the following particulars of the drowning of "Scotty."

He says he was at the tiller steering the boat, and that "Scotty" was quite drunk and laying down. A heavy gale was blowing from the southeast and they were sailing east, and in coming about on the tack a wave struck the boat, capsizing her, and "Scotty" fell overboard. Our informant says he endeavored to catch him by the head, but missed him, and then threw a rope over him, but he was too stupid to catch it. It was dark at the time, and before further assistance could be rendered the drowning man floated away and was lost.

These parties after having failed to rescue "Scotty" went on to the shipping, where they were engaged in loading a vessel, and reported the facts. The mayor of Biloxi came over Friday, and on Saturday went out into the bay, arrested the parties and brought them ashore. They gave bond for their appearance before Justice Chidsey Saturday (to-morrow), when they will have an examination.

We refrain from giving the names of the parties suspected until an investigation of the matter is had, but from what we can learn have not the least idea the man was murdered.

Revival Meeting.

As a Christian pastor and teacher, I earnestly invite the people of Scranton and vicinity to attend our meetings at the academy every night, beginning at 7 o'clock. Life is short, the day of judgment is coming; it is time for men to seek the Lord. Come and hear Mr. Phillips preach the gospel. Come and mingle your prayers with ours, that God may be merciful to you in that day. J. B. HAMBERLIN.

Rev. W. C. Clarke, of Pass Christian, will aid the pastor of the Presbyterian church here, Rev. S. J. Bingham, in a communion meeting on Sunday, 26th inst. Services begin on Friday night previous.

At the Lutheran church Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock, Mr. Fred Anderson and Miss Mary Mork were united in the bonds of matrimony. We hear that the church was beautifully decorated with choice flowers and evergreens. May the bark of the happy couple glide smoothly over the rugged sea of life, and anchor at last in that Eden of eternal rest on the other shore.

It is a strange and lamentable fact that Moss Point cannot concentrate on the school question. Our citizens had several meetings for the purpose of building up a first-class school, but all efforts seem futile. There are sufficient children in and around Moss Point to support a large school of permanancy and great value to the community, which would in time draw patronage from abroad. Why not concentrate?

some clothing. They also, while in the house, helped themselves liberally to Mr. Horner's fine whiskey and champagne. A couple of scissors-grinders who were in town were arrested on suspicion, but there being no proof against them they were discharged.

On the night of the 8th the store of Mr. C. F. Theobald was entered and goods to the amount of $50 spirited away. The manner in which an entrance was effected into the store was as follows: A round hole was bored with a centre bit above the cross-bar of one of the doors, making an opening sufficiently large to admit the hand to raise the bar and open the door. From the tracks about the establishment there seems to have been three or four engaged in the robbery. The job was done in a scientific manner, the parties committing the theft being proficient in their business.

On Thursday, the 9th, the town was again thrown into excitement by the report that a drowned man had floated ashore near the Nixon wharf. On investigation the report was found to be true. It proved to be the body of a stevedore from Horn island, by the name of "Scotty." From the appearance of the body it was feared there had been foul play. The whole corpse was rigid, with the exception of the neck. When the head was touched it would roll from side to side as if the unfortunate man's neck had been broken. A few days ago "Scotty" and three other men were here. They all appeared to be well supplied with funds, and after carousing about the town for two or three days they concluded to return to the island. Before the departure the man "Scotty" had a difficulty with one of the party, but they finally all embarked together and started for the island. The next heard from them is the finding of this body. The matter is still under investigation.
